Garsson Probe May Extend In New Direction

Senate Committee Checking
To Determine If War
Contract "Brokerage"
Existed

INCOME TAX RETURNS ALSO TO BE STUDIED

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—The Mead committee is checking evidence today that some characters in the fabulous Garsson munitions combine were involved as well in a war contract "brokerage" setup which may touch off a new inquiry.

The new cases laid before the committee for preliminary investigation, it was learned, relate to non-Garsson companies which allegedly paid fees for war contracts that in some cases failed to materialize.

Probers Checking

At present, the senate committee staff believed to be checking to see if the same "influence" machinery shown to have worked for the 16 Garsson companies was called into play on collateral business.

Rep. Andrew J. May (D, Ky.), too, will have a heart connection to testify for 10 days or two weeks, has been pictured as a key cog in that machinery.

Awaiting improvement in the house military chairman's condition, Chairman Mead (D, N. Y.), announced today that his committee will hold a public hearing Monday.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Two small girls, not yet in their teens, were discovered by Pa New, Friday afternoon, reading and re-reading the travel signs displayed in a downtown ticket office window. The girls seemed to have that far away look in their eyes, as much as to say, "Gee, I really wonder what it feels like to be on several ways to New York."

After the signs and several glances at the girls found their way into the busy crowd and went on their way.

Numerous large size six-wheel army trucks, that formerly hauled army materials or GIs, are seen performing civilian service in the city these days. Most of the trucks have been repainted and look very snappy in their new civilian dress.

Chicago Paper Says Heirens Tells Facts On Horror Crimes

CHICAGO, July 27.—(INS)—The Chicago Herald-American said today that William Heirens, 17-year-old University of Chicago student charged with two grisly "blood" murders, had recounted the horrifying details of the crimes to his parents.

The youth, one of the most indicted criminals of modern times, was charged formally by the Cook County grand jury with the kidnapping-killing of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan and the lipstick-murder of Ex-Wave Frances Brown.

With the two true bills alleging murder, Heirens now has a total of 31 indictments standing against him. Previously the grand jury had returned 29 indictments charging the college boy with a long and sensational series of burglaries and assaults.

The Herald-American disclosed that the new "confession" took place yesterday in the chapel of the Cook County jail before Heirens' parents and his attorneys. Heirens, a brilliant student by day and alleged vicious prowler by night, was said to have recounted in shocking detail the Degnan and Brown slayings.

Describes Slaying

The youth also described the slaying of Mrs. Josephine Ross, 45, in June, 1945. Heirens, however, has not been charged with the Ross slaying, although listed by police as the No. 1 suspect in the robbery-slashing of the woman.

ARKANSAS HURLED INTO AIR BY A-BOMB BLAST

KWAJALEIN, July 27.—(INS)—Naval officers disclosed today that photographs of the underwater atomic explosion show that the battleship Arkansas was lifted bodily from Bikini lagoon and broke completely in two pieces before sinking.

The officers who requested that the names be withheld said the dramatic pictures were taken from the USS Sador and did not know whether they would be released to the public.

They disclosed, however, that high speed films show that the 26,000-ton battleship was hurled into air by a 20,000-ton A-bomb blast.

Quezon's Body Is Back In Homeland

Arrives At Manila After Journey
From U. S. Aboard Aircraft Carrier

MANILA, July 27.—(INS)—The body of Manuel Quezon, beloved Filipino leader, was returned to his homeland today aboard the United States aircraft carrier Princeton.

Arrival of the ship bearing the body of the first president of the Philippine commonwealth was the signal of a twenty-four period of national mourning.

Flags throughout the nation were lowered to half-mast in honor of the man who died in war-enforced exile at Saranac Lake, N. Y., August 1, 1944.

Official Escort

Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, onetime high commissioner to the Philippines, was the official escort for the departed Filipino leader who felled to life to see his cherished dream of independence for the Philippines come true.

On hand at the ship's arrival were Manuel Roxas, protegee of Quezon and first president of the Philippine republic, as well as Quezon's widow and two children. Cabinet members and supreme court justices were also in attendance.

The body was to be taken to the Presidential palace and laid before an altar in the reception hall which was draped with purple cloth.

At 9:30 a. m. Sunday, the body will be transferred to a meeting place of the Philippine house of representatives.

On August 1, just two years after his death, Quezon's body will be interred in its final resting place in La Loma National cemetery.

DESTROYER HUGHES
DAMAGE IS SEEN

By GEORGE E. DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD USS PANAMINT, Bikini Lagoon, July 27.—Forty-eight hours after the submarine atomic blast, scientists and United Nations observers were permitted their first close-up view of the terrible damage wrought.

The observers were transferred from the USS Panamint into two landing barges for an inspection of the destroyer Hughes which was beached to prevent her from sinking.

Mortally Stricken

It was plainly evident that the Hughes had been mortally stricken. The ship was hit apparently from the starboard side and the armor and ralling around her bridge were ripped violently and hanging down the side.

The portside of the smoke-stack was bent and the mast bulged in the middle. Torpedoes were dangling weirdly from their tubes, radar equipment crumpled and five-inch turrets wrenched into crazy angles.

The Hughes had been in the line with the Nevada and Nagato and next to a yard oiler which was destroyed by the sub-surface blast. The destroyer had settled four feet.

BENTON, Ill., July 27.—(INS)—Franklin county authorities today sought a gunman who shot and killed a 29-year-old former sailor and then criminally attacked his 19-year-old sweetheart.

The victim, Louis Edward Null, of Zeigler, Ill., was shot through the head. His companion, Miss Marian Bowlin of nearby Valer, told of the shooting and how the gunman forced her to disrobe and then assaulted her.

She escaped by kicking the gun from her assailant's hand and sped to sheriff Clarence Smothers in her boy friend's car. She was nude and hysterical when she arrived at the officer's headquarters.

Aims And Policies Of OPA Are Outlined By Porter

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—Price Administrator Paul Porter promised the nation today that OPA would keep prices as close as possible to their levels of June 30th and would move swiftly "in the direction of getting rid of controls."

The OPA chief in a speech over the American Broadcasting company network outlined his agency's aims and policies during the coming year.

He was somewhat critical of the new price control act, describing it as by no means "the best of all possible bills." But, he said the act would provide "a real measure of protection for millions of Americans who simply have no reserves in which to ride out an inflationary storm."

Prevent Runaway Inflation

Porter emphatically stated that "We can prevent runaway inflation." He warned consumers, however, that the new OPA bill "authorizes price increases on some products—and price increases that

Those Green Lights Really Did Occur

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—(INS)—It's all right, fellows, there really were great big, green bands of light in the heavens last night.

Atomic Weapons Control Plan Is Being Pondered

NEW YORK, July 27.—(INS)—The United States and the Soviet Union concurred today on the urgency of outlawing atomic weapons but a wide gap separated the two powers on the timing of the prohibition.

Andre A. Gromyko, chief of the Soviet United Nations delegation, proposed an immediate ban on the manufacture of atomic bombs and adoption of an international control plan "at this time."

The Soviet spokesman, opening discussion of his nation's control plan at a closed committee meeting of the UN Atomic Energy commission, declared the continued production of the bombs is "impossible to reconcile with the task of using atomic energy for peaceful purposes only."

Agree In Principle

John M. Hancock, American delegate, said the United States agreed in principle to outlawing atomic weapons but insisted that it should be joined with a workable and effective control plan.

Gromyko cited only one control device—legislation by each nation within six months of ratification of the plan, to provide "severe punishment" for violations.

He did not repeat his demand that the security council, in which the Big Five have a veto power, should be the agency to enforce the proposed prohibition against atomic weapons.

MONROE, Ga., July 27.—(INS)—The mob lynching of two Georgia negroes and their wives by an unmasked and heavily-armed group of white men was under state investigation today, with a promise of a full federal probe coming from Washington.

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation rushed some of its best men to the scene yesterday, while in Washington Attorney General Tom Clark said he had ordered the civil rights section of the department of investigation to make a full report.

Note Adds Mystery To Hunt For Woman

NORTH CONWAY, N. H., July 27.—(INS)—A frantic appeal, written in red lipstick on a paper bag, was found today on the banks of Echo Lake near the spot where Mrs. Barbara Walker, 32, mysteriously disappeared Thursday night.

The appeal in red on the paper bag read:

"Help, they are going to kill me."

Believes Wife Abducted

Finding of the message a few hours before grapplers started to work in the lake, one of the beauty spots of New Hampshire, strengthened the theory of Langdon Walker, 27, World War II veteran, that his pretty wife was abducted.

The young husband made a plea to State police authorities to call in the FBI.

Investigators were attempting to trace a telephone call that Mrs. Walker made to San Francisco 24 hours before she vanished from a midnight picnic party in the mountain.

Walker had been stationed in San Francisco during part of his military service.

ARMED MEN ROB PERSONS IN HOME AT PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—(INS)—Police today sought two armed, unmasked bandits who walked into the fashionable Squirrel Hill home of Joseph Foreman, a used car dealer, and robbed six persons of about $6,000 in cash and jewelry.

Foreman told police that he and the others were in the living room and two men walked in, brandishing revolvers, adding that they systematically went through the pockets of each victim, stripped jewelry from their fingers and arms and ransacked the upstairs bedrooms.

Before departing, the holdup men tore the telephone from the wall and made Foreman and his guests lie on the floor.

Twenty Speeders
Arrested In July,
Police Chief Says

Police Chief Robert D. Hanna reported today that enforcement of traffic regulations here this month has resulted in approximately a score of arrests for speeding, all of whom have been or will be charged with speeding before local aldermen.

In Cedar street the police have established a "trap" which extends between Swansea avenue and Arch street. They have placed large white letters on the black cartway stating: "Speed Trap" which gives all motorists warning not to speed.

Some of the score were arrested there; others in other sections and according to Police Chief Hanna "the effort to stop speeding here is to continue."

Session

HEATED DEBATE IN SESSIONS FORECAST

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was scheduled to take off for Paris today on a mission to bring peace to Europe after "squaring off" with Russia on the matter of Hungary.

On the eve of Byrnes' departure for the July 29 peace conference, the state department made public a strongly-worded letter to Moscow in which the U. S. accused Russia of stripping Hungary of food supplies and industrial materials.

Demands Russia Aid

The letter delivered on Tuesday to Foreign Minister Molotov by Ambassador W. Bedell Smith virtually demanded that Russia join the U. S. and Britain in halting the economic disintegration of inflation-ridden Hungary.

Byrnes will fly to Paris aboard President Truman's personal plane, "The Sacred Cow" after receiving the popular acclaim of Washington. President Truman will lead the ceremonies at the airport.

The secretary's party includes Mrs. Byrnes, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. William L. Clayton, State Department Counselor Ben Cohen, Byrnes' secretary Miss Cassie Connor and several minor officials.

Senators To Attend

Senators Tom Connally (D, Texas), and Arthur H. Vandenberg (R, Mich.), will join Byrnes as his advisers before the 21-power peace conference ends. The 21 powers are those who contributed "substantially" to the defeat of the axis in Europe and they will contribute to the drafting of peace treaties for Italy and the German satellites—Finland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

The conference promises to produce a peace treaty for Europe.

Conferees On Terminal Pay Bill In Recess

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—House-Senate conferees on the terminal leave pay bill held a preliminary meeting today and recessed until Monday when they will hear budget bureau representatives explain the legislation's effect on the fiscal program.

Luxembourg Palace Gets Face Lifting

Being Prepared For Paris Peace Conference Opening On Monday

PARIS, July 27.—(INS)—The August, 350-year-old Luxembourg palace in the heart of Paris is today being given a massive face-lifting in preparation for the 21-nation peace conference to open there on Monday.

It is a top priority rush job which is costing hundreds of millions of francs to French taxpayers. It is also, however, an "affair of pride" for France wants to play gracious and bountiful host to the peace-deciding nations.

By the 29th, architects, engineers and interior decorators promise the palace will have a modern grandeur unsurpassed anywhere in the world. It will by then be ready for the hundreds of representatives from 21 nations who will pass judgement on the fate of Finland, the Balkan countries and Italy.

Built in 1615 Marie de Medici, for whom the extensive and intricately designed palace was originally built in 1615 would still recognize it today from the outside. But the interior modernization which has gone on during the past weeks could leave the grand old lady speechless.

Soundproofing, paintwork, upholstery and carpeting has been going on at a cadence which is unusual for postwar France. For so few other projects have such manpower, facilities and materials.

A maze of ultramodern electrical equipment is being quickly installed throughout the ancient corridors and chambers of the palace. The latest telephone system, teletype complex and public address network is being completed.

When the delegates of 21 nations convene, they will find French hospitality extends far beyond redecoration. In a country where belts are still tight, they will have special restaurants where at low price, the finest French "cuisine" will be at their disposal.

Special tours will be arranged for them around France in their free time. Gasoline, although rationed to almost nothing—a month for Frenchmen, will be theirs in large quantity.

The Senate rejected the House proposal to pay cash, after being informed that the administration regarded the proposal as highly inflationary.

Instead, it voted to give some 12 million former GI's bonds maturing in five years and bearing two and one-half percent interest. The bonds would not be negotiable pending maturity. Those entitled to less than $50 would receive cash.

The president has asked Congress to appropriate approximately two billion, 600 million dollars to finance the bonds.

GARSSON PROBE MAY EXTEND IN NEW DIRECTION

to hear Comptroller-General Lindsay Warren.

Mead said the committee wants to learn from Warren what authority it has or lacks to "police" and audit procurement expenditures of World War II.

Mead pointed out that Warren's general accounting office under present law cannot audit a contract settlement reached through the "across-the-table" renegotiation process.

Delve Into Audits

Mead said: "The committee is anxious to ascertain what audits are being conducted for the protection of the public in payments to war contractors on the part of the GAO and what deficiencies exist in operation of existing statutes and regulations designed to insure the proper expenditure of public funds for national defense."

The comptroller-general, a former house member, is congress' own "watchdog of the treasury," responsible directly to congress.

Mead also told reporters following a White House visit that President Truman had agreed to make available through the justice department the income tax returns of May and others connected with the Garsson empire.

Asked if the files the committee will seek to examine include those of May, Mead said:

All Inclusive

"It would include all of the officials of the Garsson companies and all of the officials of the Cumberland Lumber Co., of which Andrew J. May was the fiscal agent in Kentucky."

Monday's hearing will be followed Tuesday by airing of charges involving a $2500 payment to Rep. John M. Coffee (D) Wash., by a constituent of the Garsson empire, former Sen. Rufus Holman (R) Ore., and others were listed as witnesses.

In a letter made public Friday, Coffee admitted that he received the $2500 as a campaign contribution for making certain, with Holman's help, that the contractors, Elvins Anderson, of Tacoma, received "justice and fairness" in the award of an army contract. Anderson, he said, was in danger of losing the $1,000,000 contract even though he was the qualified "low bidder."

Recommend Executing For Jap Terrorists

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 27.—(INS)—Brazilian army officers reportedly recommended today the execution of more than 100 Japanese terrorists who claim Japan won the war.

They are members of the "Shindai Remmi" organization and are charged with beheading Japanese colonists at Sao Paulo considered "disloyal" to their native country.

The terrorists have distributed faked photographs intended to show Japanese war leaders dictating peace terms to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

President Gaspar Eurico Dutra was said to be opposed to death sentences for the terrorists. Military officers at Sao Paulo claimed that the Japanese prisoners had committed "crimes against national security" and should receive no leniency.

Brazil is expected to take the lead, as representative of the other Latin-American countries, in seeking softer terms for Italy. That country, as the treaty now stands, loses land to France and Yugoslavia as well as all her African colonies.

In Byrnes own words, a conference hearing will be granted any state which has any good or plausible reason for being heard.

President Truman said on the eve of Byrnes' departure that aspirations of the common man should be a challenge to the peace conference.

The latest dramatic development (came when defense attorneys John and Malachi Coghlan and Rowland Towe summoned Mr. an. Mrs. Heirens to the county jail for a sudden conference.

Alternately shuffling between glib description and halting phraseology—broken sometimes by wracking sobs—Heirens told virtually the same stories of the defense and Brown slaying as charged in the murder indictments, according to the Chicago newspaper.

Parents Heartbroken

The Herald-American reported that the youth's parents—who have stood by their son—emerged from the conference red-eyed and visibly heartbroken.

The Herald-American said that Heirens' parents signed documents backing their counsel's officially undisclosed strategy.

Earlier, John Coghlan, chief of the defense staff, said he would ask for a continuance in the youth's arraignment next Tuesday for at least two weeks. This would bring his arraignment on the murder charges to about August 14, the same date which was fixed for Heirens to appear in court to make a plea in the 29 robbery and assault indictments.

The defense attorneys, paving the way for a possible insanity plea, reportedly lined up psychiatrists to examine Heirens. State alienists already have examined the boy, and in an informal report to state attorney William Tuohy declared Heirens sane.

Offers To Trade

Chicago, July 27.—(INS)—William Heirens, 17-year-old college boy, today offered to dictate full and formal confessions to three shocking murders and more than 30 burglaries next Tuesday at 11 a. m. if the state agrees not to demand his execution.

The offer was made through his lawyers to State's Attorney William Tuohy after Heirens told his own parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Heirens, that he actually was guilty of one of the greatest one-man crime sprees of modern times.

Further, it was learned, the offer was made in writing, and signed by both Heirens and his mother and father.

Heirens told his grief-stricken parents that he didn't know why he did it.

They promised they would stand by him.

Plans also were made by John Coghlan, chief of Heirens' defense staff of five attorneys, to work out an agreement with the state for an insanity test for Heirens, brilliant University of Chicago student by day and alleged phantom prowler and killer by night.

Heirens' parents also agreed to the latter step.

The formal request for appointment of psychiatrists to determine Heirens' sanity will be made in open court next Tuesday at 10 a. m.

His 'Connections' Kept Capt. Garsson Out Of Dangers

CHICAGO, July 27.—(INS)—Joseph Garsson, a former artillery captain and son of Murray Garsson, munitions maker now under scrutiny by the senate's Mead committee, placed on record today the admission "his connections" kept him out of danger spots during the war.

The 27-year-old veteran, who now works in the railroad sales department of the Batavia Metal Products, Inc., one of the Garsson firms now under investigation for alleged war profits, said that throughout his army career the byword was "take care of Garsson."

Stating there also was an undercurrent of resentment "against me," Garsson said:

"Every where I went the word was to 'take care of Garsson and protect him.'"

Garsson added that his father saw to it through "his connections" that he was kept from being assigned to so-called hot combat zones.

The young veteran explained: "Understand, anything done for me in the army through my father's influence was done because of a normal father's desire to protect his son and further his career."

"No one could have a finer father."

Garsson, who despite the alleged efforts of his father saw more than 300 days of combat, said Rep. A. J. May (D) Ky., and chairman of the military affairs committee, intervened in his court martial in January of 1945.

Report Britain Gives Approval To Palestine Plan

LONDON, July 27.—(INS)—Authoritative sources disclosed today that the British government has tentatively agreed to establish three separate zones of British, Arab and Jewish control. It was drawn up during Anglo-American discussions, in which the U. S. was represented by a cabinet committee headed by Henry Grady.

An official British spokesman emphasized that the plan did not constitute "partition" of Palestine. He said:

"Partition implies sovereignty of the various parts, which is untrue."

Under terms of federalization, the three areas would enjoy local autonomy but all would be directed at the top by a central council on matters of overall concern.

The British government is attempting to avoid use of the word "partition" because the Arabs have already asserted they would oppose dismemberment of Palestine.

The spokesman emphasized that the plan has been approved thus far only for discussion purposes and may be changed later.

The girls, Misses Carvelle Babcock and Hildred Harrison, left Syracuse Sunday, July 14. They arrived in St. Louis yesterday. Miss Harrison said she and Miss Babcock averaged about 60 miles a day during the trip.

She added: "I won a $25 wager on the trip. A friend bet me at 5 to 1 odds that we wouldn't reach St. Louis on schedule."

The girls spent the night at the home of Miss Babcock's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson. They are going to Marthasville, Mo., today to visit Miss Babcock's grandparents.

Miss Harrison said: "We're going to make that trip by automobile."

This external view of the beached ship was probably the closest observers will get unless they remain at Bikini about a week more.

The target center remained red hot with radioactivity the third day after the historic underwater explosion.

MOB LYNCHING BEING PROBED

he was stopped at rifle point by the mob.

Harrison described to officers how the group telled the negroes with a 60-shot broadside from rifles, shotguns and pistols on a lonely swamp road Thursday night.

Harrison said he went to Monroe to post bond for Roger Malcolm, 27-year-old negro, who was charged with stabbing a white man, his employer. With Harrison were three other negroes, Malcolm's wife and George Dorsey and his wife.

Mob Suddenly Appears

Officers said Harrison related that he secured Malcolm's release and was enroute back to his farm when the mob suddenly appeared on the road and blocked his car's path.

The ringleader of the group ordered the two negro men out of the car and herded them toward the woods. A man held Harrison at gunpoint. Harrison said the negro women "started yelling and cussing" and the gun-brandishing mob returned.

Malcolm's wife, Dorothy, called one of the white men by name. The white farmer said he did not hear the name but said the mob then ordered the women out of his car. He said:

"I tried to interfere but they told me it wasn't my party. I had to stay by the car at the other end of a shotgun."

Harrison said the mob then shot all four of the negroes. The episode lasted only three minutes.

the air seconds following the underwater detonation.

While still in the air, the officers said the ship broke in two and came crashing back to the lagoon with both fore and aft sections sinking from sight immediately.

They termed the photograph of the Arkansas taken in mid-air perhaps the most dramatic film in history.

Their information was corroborated by at least one scientist aboard the observation ship Panamint who said he was able to see the ship tossed into the air through his high-powered binoculars.

In addition, one airplane crew reported seeing "a big ship standing on end."

VACATION TOO MUCH

KANSAS CITY.—(INS)—A 30-day vacation as a result of a bakery strike proved too much for Chris, a Kansas City bread wagon horse. On the first day that he returned to work Chris ran away while the driver made a delivery. The animal was halted by a daring policeman who leaped from a prowl car to the careening wagon.

Two Girls Make 900-Mile Journey Riding Bicycles

ST. LOUIS, July 27.—(INS)—Two 19-year-old, Syracuse, N. Y., girls rested today at the end of a 900-mile trip from their home by bicycle.

The girls, Misses Carvelle Babcock and Hildred Harrison, left Syracuse Sunday, July 14. They arrived in St. Louis yesterday. Miss Harrison said she and Miss Babcock averaged about 60 miles a day during the trip.

She added: "I won a $25 wager on the trip. A friend bet me at 5 to 1 odds that we wouldn't reach St. Louis on schedule."

Waynesburg Waits For Annual Rain

WAYNEBURG, July 27.—(INS)—Jack Dempsey, Attorney John Daily, rain, a swimming pool, $50. Waynesburg, and July 29 all fit into the same picture.

How come?

For the last 69 years Waynesburgers have wagered it'll rain on July 29, and only three times during the period have the rainmakers failed to uphold the town's tradition.

To make this year's guessing contest more interesting, Attorney John Daily, official rain prophet, bet Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight champ that it'll rain. Dempsey said it wouldn't.

Regardless of the outcome the $50 wager will be contributed to a fund for the town's new swimming pool.

NOTE ADDS MYSTERY TO HUNT FOR WOMAN

year-old son, disappeared when she went to get some candy from her automobile parked only about 100 yards from the picnic scene. Seven companions—five men and two women—started a search for her after she had been gone about half an hour.

Deputy Sheriff Herbert Taylor entered the search when the woman's companions said they found Mrs. Walker's lighted flash light on the floor of the automobile and both car doors swinging open. He reported some evidence of a possible struggle. He found the woman's shoes, a flowered hair circlet, and tufts of hair which might have been from a human head.

North Conway, N. H., July 27.—(INS)—A two-word appeal for help, written with red lipstick on a paper bag, was found today in the vicinity of Echo Lake, where Mrs. Barbara Walker, 23, mysteriously disappeared from a picnic party Thursday night.

"Help—anyone," the message read, and under it was an arrow.

State and local police authorities, after an investigation, said they did not regard the cryptic message as much of a clue. They pointed out that the logging road on the north shore of the lake where Jesse Lyman, a North Conway resident, picked up the note in some brush, had been thoroughly searched previously.

The word "help" was in printed letters, and the word "anyone" had been scribbled.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

O. P. A. Retention Is Hailed By Majority

WASHINGTON, July 27.—To hail the adoption of a slightly revised O. P. A. as a great triumph of the popular will would be a long way from the truth. How effectively it will push back the tide of mounting prices is still a large question.

But above and beyond the shrieking of the propaganda derishes, certain facts stand out which would not be forgotten. First of all, a great majority of the American people wanted price control continued. Whatever you may think of the popular-opinion polls, they are a measure, however exact, of the current tides of opinion. The other day Elmer Roper, whose polls have shown a remarkable degree of accuracy, pointed out a significant thing.

For Retaining Controls

Canvassing all the polls taken on the question of whether price control should or should not be kept, he showed in an article in the New York Herald-Tribune that every poll without exception reported a large majority in favor of keeping controls. This was true of the Gallup poll of the national opinion research center in Denver, and of such reliable local polls as those conducted by the Des Moines Register in Iowa and the Minneapolis Tribune in Minnesota.

The percentages varied somewhat, but when the direct question was put, at least 65 per cent of those asked said yes, they did want controls continued. That is a very high average, particularly when the number expressing no view is taken into consideration.

On April 21, the national opinion research center asked the question: "During the next year, do you think it will be necessary or unnecessary for the government to continue to control prices?" Eighty-two per cent answered it would be necessary; 13 per cent, unnecessary, and 5 per cent were undecided.

Refutes Propaganda

This, then, refutes the propaganda that OPA was not popular. Of course, it was not popular with those who wanted to make a killing off hoarded inventories of scarce goods. Nor can a majority of 65 per cent or better be put down merely to pressure groups such as CIO and AFL.

A second bit of propaganda, it seems to me, has exaggerated out of all proportion to the truth the black market in such scarce commodities as meat. We in our family have never paid more than ceiling prices for meat and, while we may have been more fortunate than some, we have not felt that we suffered from a shortage of meat.

Moreover, I have made a point in recent months of asking a great many people whether they bought black market meat or if they knew where it could be bought. I have never had anyone say that, through their own first-hand knowledge, they could get rare cuts of meats by paying higher prices.

Black Market Reports

From the propaganda, one would have gathered that most Americans were patronizing the black market. Restaurants and hotels perhaps resorted to under-the-counter sources, which certainly existed in this big, rich country on a large scale. But so far as most householders are concerned, there has been no proof whatsoever that they sought out black markets in the mass.

A third line of propaganda has sought to convince us that high prices were merely temporary. Supply and demand, it has been argued, would inevitably work to bring reasonable prices again.

Abnormal Aftermath

The aftermath of the war is abnormal in other ways. As the Denver Post pointed out in a recent editorial, the supply of meat is likely to be scarce in fall and winter because of the diversion of grain to Europe and Asia for the relief of hunger. What happens to prices now, particularly to meat prices, is scarcely typical, since buying always falls off in the summer.

You can look back to the beginning of price control. Bernard M. Baruch said then, with unmistakable clarity, that only by controlling all elements in the economy, including wages and prices, taxes and finance rigorously as a supplement, would it be possible to hold back the tide of inflation.

He said, too, that the law as adopted during the war should provide a continuation of price controls for two years after the war. But the political pressures were too strong. Or such was the judgment of President Roosevelt and the men about him.

Now OPA is a thing of shreds and patches. But it is better than nothing at all, and that is why President Truman decided to sign the new bill. By his earlier veto, he made an honest try to get something stronger but, just as in the beginning of OPA, Congress decided it was politically impossible.

The State Police Say:

Natural forces are stronger than the forces generated by the most powerful automobile. For example, everyone knows that it takes distance in which to stop a moving automobile. But that does not stop some people from driving as if they thought they could "stop on a dime." Driving practices are never sound until natural forces are taken into account. The wise driver learns what a car, and especially his own car, can do under different conditions, and he does not try to accomplish the impossible.

Square dishes for cafeterias are suggested. If the meals that are served on them also fit that pattern, we're for the idea.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"How much do you get out of the tobacco trust for sticking that pipe in your mouth?" writes one of my readers in Lubbock, Texas.

"Shame on you, spilling a nice face like that."

Well, thanks very much for calling my face "nice." I don't like it very much myself, but if you do it's all right with me.

Now about that pipe in my mouth. I guess that reader refers to my latest picture which many of the papers that publish my column run every day. A picture of which, by the way, I am very proud.

I purposely stuck the pipe in my mouth when it was taken, because a pipe in my mouth is as much part of me as my shirt or my trousers.

As a matter of fact, when Margaret Turner, the women's editor of the Texas Avalanche-Journal, visited me in New York a few weeks ago, she mentioned my ash tray with three pipes in it.

She was wrong, though. There were five pipes in that ash tray and one in my mouth. In my New York apartment there are at least twenty more pipes and in my home in Brookfield there must be sixty or seventy. I have lost count.

Pipe collecting is my hobby. I have pipes in all shapes and sizes. Some of them smell more than others but they are all pets of mine. Some of my favorites even have names.

I know that some of you will now write me and tell me down for using "that filthy weed, tobacco" and for advocating smoking.

Well, I like it, and every one of my columns is written with a pipe in my mouth.

Maybe it's a rotten habit. But I have it and like it and shall continue to smoke.

My pipe helps me to think, and in the smoke of that pipe I see pictures—of you and of life and of today and tomorrow, and somehow, when I light one of those friends, my troubles seem to grow less in importance, and contentment and peace envelop me.

By the way, I went to my doctor a few days ago for a check-up. I told him how much I smoke.

"Shall I cut it down?" I asked. "Would it make you any happier if you did?" he asked me in turn.

"No." "Then don't."

I don't like smoking. I think it's a bad habit.

I don't want to be too strong and too good and too perfect.

I'm just human.

HOW BILLS BECOME LAW

Continuing the study of the Constitution, Section 7 of Article I reads as follows:

All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it becomes a Law, be presented to the President of the United States. If he approve he shall sign it, but if he shall return it with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two-thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by the Yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

The above section needs very little comment. Every time the House passes a bill for raising revenue, the Senate has to concur, and they don't always concur and that they track on amendments that are not agreeable to the House and the final act appropriating money, for World War No. II for instance, has to be settled by Committees appointed by the respective Houses who meet and agree upon a compromise.

The pocket veto is embodied in the second paragraph of Section 7. In the last days and hours of any Congress a multitude of Bills have often been passed which go to the President promptly and a good many of the Bills are distasteful to the President and he just doesn't say, are, yes or no. Those Bills might just as well go into the waste paper basket.

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

BEING A GRACEFUL WINNER

Sportsmanship, like manners, must be learned. Its learning is a slow and tip-hill task. Against it are the basic human appetites.

Children learn it best from one another. Some of it they may acquire from us through imitation. But our readiness at self-sacrifice for them does very little good. Indeed, the more we give up to gratify their wishes the more they expect us to give up to them, and the less they are inclined toward self-denial. We do not often cultivate good sportsmanship in them by our sportsmanship toward them.

When, however, we play games with them and do not throw the game, we often have an opportunity to become good models when we win. Unfortunately many parents, particularly dads, are disposed to let the young child win nearly everytime. It gives the father satisfaction as he fools the child to think himself the winner.

Graceful Winner

But the child who, with his parents or with other children, nearly always reaps the victory is going to have a hard time to learn to lose manfully when well matched. Neither is he going to learn to be a graceful winner.

Listen to the child of four or seven bragging when he wins, or thinks himself excelling in contests. Watch him weep, grow angry or accuse his victor of unfairness, when he loses.

No amount of exhortation helps him much; nor do we cultivate good sportsmanship in him by scolding or by punishing him in other ways when he is unsportsmanlike. We do most for him as we create situations in which he may be led to act graciously and as we praise him then for his graciousness. It is a matter of leading him to succeed in acting right, and then of celebrating his successes.

Other Children

Other children who match him in courage, strength and skill are his most effective teachers. As he learns to defend himself and settle his own quarrels, he discovers strong advantages in co-operation. From the group with whom he plays, there arise certain rules of action. Self-approval, and approval by the group, demands a measure of fair play which becomes a well-defined accepted fashion of that group. "Your Child and His Playmates" may be had in a stamped envelope by writing to me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

As organized contests develop among children, certain rules among them become more powerful in guiding the behavior of the individuals of the group competing. In school, where such organized contests have supervision, the leader or the coach, deliberately magnifies the virtues of good sportsmanship. Supervised playgrounds and social center programs continue to exalt these traits. Camping and scouting do so, too.

Browder Goes To Work On Cultural Relations State Department Is Scrutinizing Activities Big Meat Supply Will Not Last

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, July 27.—United States government officials are closely scrutinizing the activities of Earl Browder, once the Communist party's perennial presidential candidate and now, after being read out of party leadership, cultural relations liaison man between Moscow and the United States.

Browder recently went to Moscow and arranged a contract whereby he will seek greater production and distribution of Soviet literature in America.

He will also seek to help Soviet publishers find outstanding American literature for reproduction in Russia.

This exchange of culture and understanding is directly in line with policies propounded by Assistant Secretary of State William Benton.

Benton favors a two-way exchange of culture, but would like primarily to get it moving from the United States to the U. S. S. R. Thus far he has had little success through official channels and Browder now may succeed where Benton failed.

However, officials are not overlooking the possibility of Browder proving to be more than an unofficial emissary.

If he has any connection other than as a promoter of literary relations, it is expected to show in the registration certificate he must file with the department of justice. He has already made available to the state department the terms of his contract with the Soviet publishers.

Insiders say that the justice department's interest in the Senate-Mead committee investigation of the Garson munitions combine is more than academic and there may be some real fireworks.

There has been no definite evidence which would provide the basis for criminal indictments, but observers close to the scene are watching the department's moves with keen interest.

The war department, too, has jumped into the fray with both feet. Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall said the army intends to make its own investigation.

In fact, it has some tangible ground on which to operate. Testimony before the committee revealed that the munitions group had received an overpayment of one million dollars.

You'd better get all the meat you can while the getting is good.

Take it from the agriculture department, the current cattle shipments to market won't last. There'll be plenty for a few weeks, and then it will be over.

Government officials point out that this is the normal marketing period when peak shipments of cattle are made. It will continue for another month or two and then—controls or no controls—the drought will set in.

Answer: You are, indeed, the victim of shocking rudeness and I have always maintained that relationship does not place upon even the richest of us our obligation to bestow hospitality upon unwanted relatives. Only your children or others sharing your home with you permanently are entitled to break in upon it uninvited for even an overnight stay. Of course, some of us have homes so spacious that we can safely say to a favorite brother or sister, or chum, whose presence is always a delight, that a spare room is always ready and waiting. But not even one of these especially favored ones should dream of popping in on you without a previous phone call or note that will verify the convenience of such a visit.

I would solve the problem by writing a note to this effect: "Bob and I are going on an automobile trip on our vacation. I thought I would warn you in advance so that you will not be inadvertently visit us and possibly find our house closed. It is uncertain just when we will start on our trip. You had better, then, write before coming out this way."

Afterward, when they suggest a time, repeatedly state that the date selected will be inconvenient to you and that you will later notify them of a convenient date which never state.

Question: In which hands should the serving fork and spoon be held when taking food from a serving dish?

Words Of Wisdom

I chose my wife, as she did her wedding gown, for qualities that would wear well.—Goldsmith.

The auto industry is celebrating its 30th anniversary. Gosh, we thought the Sunday driver had been around longer than that!

A Canadian farmer reports discovery of a turkey with four legs. There's one bird which is trying its best to alleviate the meat shortage.

The Fifth Bomb

Scientists who issued assurances that the first underwater explosion of an atomic bomb would not produce an earthquake or even a tidal wave were right. But it caused sufficient damage to the vessels in the target area to demonstrate that it is a potent undersea weapon.

This test off Bikini did not receive the public attention of the earlier one directed at surface craft, probably because the public has now settled down to a blasé attitude of taking things atomic in its stride. Predictions that the bomb would lift a huge column of water two miles into the air were borne out, but fears that hazards of radioactivity not previously encountered were likely to develop as the released neutrons acted on the minerals in the seawater seem to have been groundless.

Of course, scientists could not be absolutely sure what to expect from this experiment, as they cannot be sure what to expect from future applications of the bomb to given targets. If they had been wrong in important respects laymen would not be too critical of their failure. It is only fair to allow a reasonable margin for error in a case of this kind.

Tests now have demonstrated that the experts can calculate the power of this weapon within fairly close limits. And every bit of evidence that human intelligence can direct atomic energy in the physical sense reinforces the hope that men can also devise a way to use it for constructive purposes.

Nature Is Kind To Nation

In a year in which the nation needs all the food that can be raised, nature has been extraordinarily kind to the farmers of the United States. For months the nation has been hard pressed to meet the demands of its people, solely because of food shipments to other nations.

Under the circumstances, a serious crop failure would have been a major disaster. Indeed, the fields of grain now ripening under the summer suns and rains promise to produce the richest harvest in the nation's history.

The prospects, bright on July 1, had brightened still more under favorable weather by July 15 when the Department of Agriculture made a special mid-month survey. At that time the outlook was for a corn crop of 3,487,976,000 bushels, approximately 146,000,000 bushels greater than the prospect two weeks earlier. The expected wheat crop was up 42,000,000 bushels from the July 1 forecast to a total of 1,132,075,000.

It is impossible to make hard and fast estimates of output in an occupation surrounded by so many uncertainties as farming. Uncle Sam will have to keep his fingers crossed until the harvest is safely in.

But if the forecasts are borne out they will ease the situation far more than anyone dared to hope at the beginning of this summer, when mountains of grain and other foodstuffs were shipped to Europe, leaving the nation's cupboard bare. The prospective wheat crop alone is roughly 133,000,000 bushels greater than is called for in the government's present program for shipments abroad. If the estimates are borne out, it is entirely possible that the restrictions imposed earlier this year can be eased without slowing the export program.

Talking Orders

V. M. Molotov's conference methods did not seem unusual to James L. Hyland, Republic Steel corporation executive just returned to this country after serving as deputy chief of the metals section of the American Military government in Germany. He says that the stalling procedure was followed by all the Russians he did business with.

"The men we dealt with were intelligent and talked the same technical language," he said. "However, they came to a meeting under strict orders on what was to be discussed. If the discussions went further than the subjects the Russians were under orders to talk about, the Russians would call for a postponement and then the next day would return ready to carry on discussions where we left off."

It is difficult for Americans, used to a system of delegated authority in their government and armed services, to comprehend fully the extent of the orders-from-Moscow technique.

Empty Spaces

The Census Bureau estimates that the population on January 1 of this year has reached 140,000,000. This country is pretty well filled up. The number of inhabitants per square mile is relatively low for industrial nations, but this is explained by the fact that there are immense areas of desert which yield little or nothing and therefore cannot support more than a few humans to the mile.

The density of population in the industrial areas is as great as it is anywhere in the western world, and we have more able-bodied people in the rural areas, for the most part, than are needed to produce the crops. Mechanization of the farms has meant that year by year more is being produced by fewer farmers. The process is by no means completed. At the recent Cotton Research congress in Dallas it was reported that 50 man hours of work with advanced machinery will now produce the bale of cotton that requires 235 man hours with the older methods. One of the serious problems that this country faces is the redistribution of the surplus rural population.

All of this, of course, has its direct bearing on the relocation of Europe's displaced persons. We formerly accepted European immigrants by the millions, sometimes taking as many as a million a year, at a time when there was good land to be settled, railroads to be built, forests to be cut down, and new industries to be manned. We cannot accommodate large amounts of immigrants today without aggravating the problem of redistributing our own surplus population.

There are, fortunately, some undeveloped areas in the world which can support much larger populations than they now have. Canada is one. Australia and New Zealand are others. Portions of Africa and Latin America also fall within this category. It is to these lands rather than the United States that the displaced persons should be directed.—Chicago Tribune.

Hints On Etiquette

In the wedding reception line, the bride's mother heads it, next to her stands the bridegroom's father, his mother then bride and groom, bride, maid of honor, and last the bridesmaids. Sometimes the bride's father and the best man take part, but usually they mingle with the guests.

Some folks call John L. Lewis a dictator. Maybe he is, but we can't forget that New Deal congressmen made him that way.—Anon.

Ceiling Prices On Autos Restored Is OPA Announcement

New Schedules Being Prepared For Issuance Soon By OPA On New Price Controls

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—The OPA announced today that ceiling prices of both new and used passenger cars in effect on June 30 were restored with the enactment of the new price control law.

The agency said these ceilings will remain effective until new schedules are issued. All deliveries of new and used automobiles after July 25 must be at, or below, the OPA ceiling.

This applies even in cases where the buyer agreed with the seller during the 25-day lapse in price controls to pay in excess of the ceiling and made a down-payment.

The OPA currently is preparing a new automobile price order to conform with provisions of the new price control law eliminating absorption of price increases by dealers. This will result in higher prices to consumers for automobiles.

The OPA pointed out, however, that ceiling prices of used cars were reduced four per cent on July 1. This reduction automatically became effective with the new price control extension act.

A previous four per cent cut in used car prices was made last Jan. 1.

Census Experts Arrive In City For Housing Look

Bureau of Census experts, at the request of the National Housing Agency, arrived in the city Friday to begin a two-week survey of housing conditions in the community.

With headquarters on the second floor of the Post Office building, the enumerators will do field work in representative parts of the city to ascertain needs for housing, with emphasis on accommodations for returned veterans.

Staff members total ten, and it is planned to recruit men and women of the city to assist in the work. At the conclusion of the survey the data will be taken to Washington, D. C., for compilation and study as part of the national housing program.

Youth For Christ Leaders In Session

MEDICINE LAKE, Minn., July 27.—(INS)—Dr. Torrey Johnson, of Chicago, re-elected president of the Youth for Christ International at the annual convention, today asked nearly 500 delegates to intensify their fight against delinquency and atheism.

Johnson called for double the number of rallies and converts and double attendance in the next year.

Air Forces Day Will Be August 1

As a salute to the world's most powerful air force, President Truman has proclaimed August 1 as "Army Air Forces Day." Founded 39 years ago, the Army Air Forces has come a long way from small and experimental beginnings. Today in addition to fighters and bombers for defense, they have begun a mighty research program for the world at peace.

Side by side with technological progress goes the Air Force's vital duty of preserving world peace and national security. The nation's safety in a world where distance means so little, rests with the men who fly.

NEW ORDER NOT LIKELY TO AFFECT STATE GUARDS

HARRISBURG, July 27.—(INS)—A war department order recalling more than 1000 reserve officers to active duty was not expected today to affect the reorganization of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

A spokesman at guard headquarters pointed out that the war department order included "specialists" such as civil affairs, finance and intelligence officers.

"My personal opinion is that it will in no way affect the reorganization of the Pennsylvania National Guard because those men are all specialists," the spokesman said. "The guard has been recruiting combat and staff officers rather than specialists."

Pierre Flandin Given Sentence

Former French Leader Gets Five Years Suspended Sentence For Collaboration

VERSAILLES, July 27.—(INS)—Pierre Etienne Flandin, one-time Vichy foreign minister, retired from the French political scene today after receiving a suspended sentence of five years national ineligibility for collaboration with the Nazis.

The sentence, if implemented, would have deprived Flandin of his civil rights for the five-year period. Suspension meant in effect that the Versailles court had found him guilty, but did not penalize him.

Flandin's four-day trial was highlighted by the appearance in his behalf of Winston Churchill's son, Randolph, Young Churchill declared that both the wartime minister and President Roosevelt had protested Flandin's arrest.

Flandin was Vichy foreign minister for 56 days between December, 1940 and February, 1941. The French court apparently tempered its decision on his contention that there was no collaboration between Vichy and Germany at that time.

The average person has from 15 to 20 different positions when sleeping. He changes these positions from 30 to 35 times a night to permit the various muscles of the body to relax and rest.

Transportation Is Provided For June '42 Reunion

Expecting a large crowd, the committee of the June '42 reunion has asked all of the members of the class who haven't transportation to assemble at the high school at 2:30 on August 3. All drivers who have room for passengers but who have not yet been contacted are also to meet in front of the school before proceeding to Stoughton's beach, where the reunion will be held.

Power Company Receives Award

Pennsylvania Power Company has just received an award from the financial magazine "Financial World", in recognition of its "Highest Merit Award" rating for its 1945 annual report to stockholders.

The merit rating is based on the survey of annual reports made each year by Financial World, which reviewed some 1,500 reports of corporations throughout the country.

The award is based on excellence of the report as judged from the standpoint of content, format and typography.

As a result of this rating, it is qualified for consideration in the selection in the "Best of Industry" award.

The local company's report was written and laid out by the staff of the company in the general office in New Castle, and was printed by a local printer.

Y.M.C.A. Campers Ending Third Week

Sunday over 60 boys of the Y. M. C. A. will pack their belongings and leave the summer camp site to return to the city as the third week at Camp Fred L. Reutz comes to an end. Monday morning a new group of boys will motor to the site for a week in the open.

Thursday the camp All-Stars defeated a group of "Y" boys from the city, 22-5. Feature players were Howard Haid, the pitcher, and Dave Rowe. Both boys clouted homers. In the evening the boys gathered around a campfire session and listened to a story by Jimmy Dart, assistant director.

Movies are planned for today, with the boys attending religious services tomorrow prior to their leaving the camp.

Vienna-Moscow Relationships At Critical Stage

VIENNA, July 27.—(INS)—Relationships between Vienna and Moscow hit a new low today as the Austrian government prepared to implement a parliamentary decision to nationalize key industries, including 13 claimed by the Soviets. The new nationalization law applies to such vital properties claimed by Russia under the Potsdam decisions as the Zisterdorf oilfields, the Danube Shipping company and banking, mining and manufacturing undertakings.

Protest Move
Russian displeasure against the decision has already been matched by France whose representatives in Vienna are protesting nationalization of the mighty Laender bank in which a large block of French capital is invested.

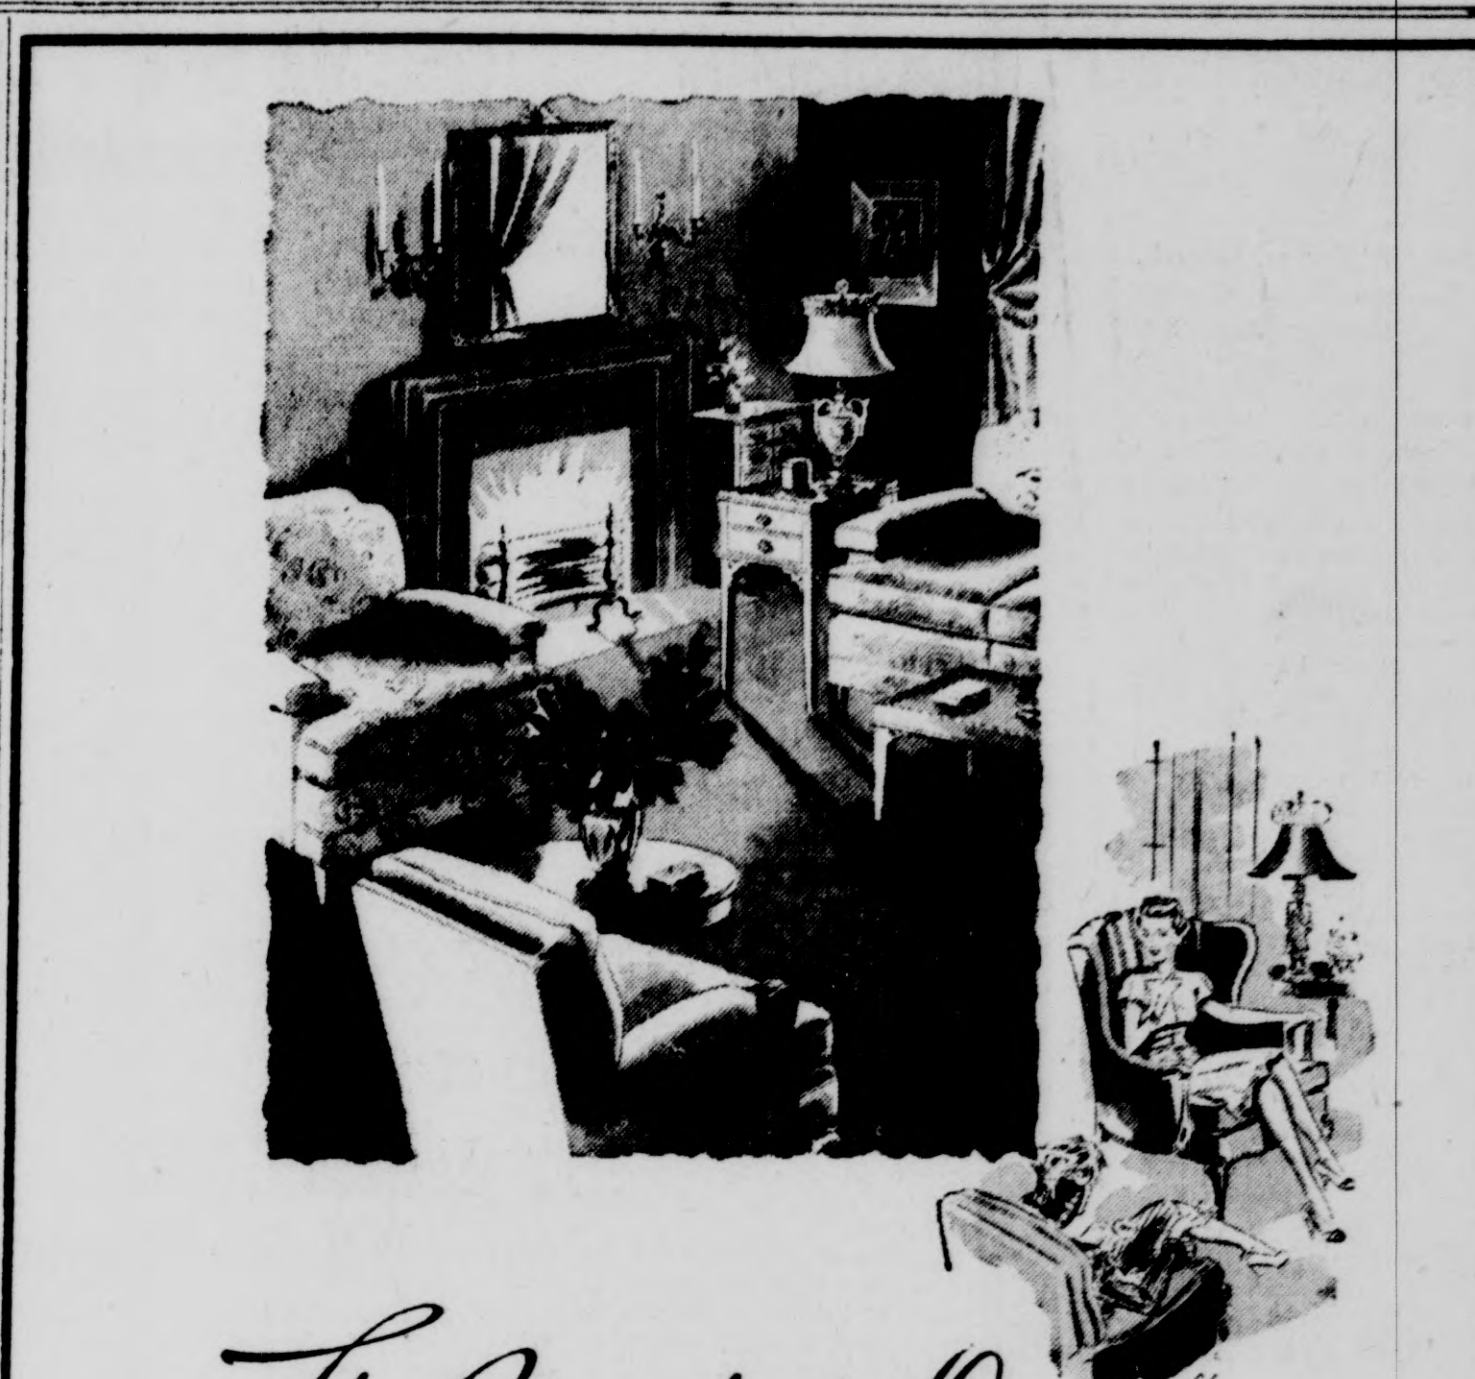

Passage of the nationalization law was unanimous, with four Communist members of parliament forgetting party affiliations to join in the final vote.

Informed quarters view the decision as being of great significance, since it was made despite two Russian notes forbidding nationalization of properties claimed under the Potsdam pact.

The three parties comprising Austria's coalition government voted as one in defiance of Soviet threats of "punishment."

Similar agreement among the three parties was registered in adoption of a resolution asking the United Nations to receive an Austrian delegation seeking to present their country's case for a peace treaty.

The Cherished Dream of Every Woman...

... To be the mistress of a home filled with furniture that bears the priceless mark of integrity, the stamp of the master-craftsman. That, it would seem to us, is the cherished dream of every woman. The dream that she continually strives, through the years, to finally possess.

We, too, strive to uphold this ideal... to keep it burning ever so brightly... to always assure our customers of the very finest in merchandise. We... in our never-ceasing search for better and better things... continually seek out those products that bear the unmistakable crest of quality.

When your needs turn to a new chair or sofa, or perhaps a room or home outfit—we'd like to serve you. To show you just how that goal you've set out to achieve can become a glorious reality. To make your home a better home for better living... To make your hopes for tomorrow the fulfillment of today!

Texas Primaries Under Way Today

Multitude Of Issues And Candidates Obscure Possible Outcome Of Voting

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—Texas goes to the polls today to conduct primary elections with a multitude of political issues and candidates obscuring the outcome in most contests.

The thirty-first state to conduct primaries, the political situation in Texas has been confused by a hangover of a fight that split the Democratic party in 1944 at the presidential convention in Chicago.

Hottest race in the state is for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination—Tantamount to election—with a total of fourteen candidates in the field, five of them considered "major" contenders.

Dr. Homer P. Riney, ousted president of the University of Texas is conceded by most political observers to be in the van in the governorship race but, lacking a clear plurality of votes case, will be faced with a runoff primary with the second highest vote-getter.

Other gubernatorial candidates in the "major" classification include Beauford Jester, Casio March, Jerry Sadler, and Grover Sellers.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn is assured of another term in the House—and if the Democrats retain control of the lower chamber, assured of another two years as House speaker. No opposition candidate has filed against him.

Sen. Tom Connally, with four candidates having filed against him, is nonetheless considered to be a safe bet for renomination.

Plan To Choose Potato Blossom Queen For Area

OIL CITY, Pa., July 27.—To acquaint the public with the importance of the potato industry in this area and to educate persons in the value of the vegetable, a Potato Blossom queen contest will be held here, representing six counties, on August 6.

The contest is being held under the auspices of the Retail Merchants Bureau of the Oil City Chamber of Commerce. Working in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association, the bureau is seeking contestants from Lawrence, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Clarion, Mercer and Venango counties.

From these entrants one girl will be chosen to represent this area at the court of honor to be held at Camp Potato in Potter county at which time the state queen will be selected.

Contestants must be daughters of farmers who raise potatoes for sale. Entries must be mailed to W. G. Donaldson, R. D. 1, Emlenton, Pa., and must reach him by August 3.

LOOKING FOR LANZO

District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson and County Detective Charles D. Ross are looking for one George Salvador Magaro, alias Chuckie Magaro, alias James Lanzo. Charges of bigamy, perjury and passing worthless checks have been placed against him in the office of Alderman B. J. Biondi.

Magaro or Lanzo was married in the past in 1928, according to District Attorney Donaldson. Some time ago he came to New Castle and a number of merchants are nursing checks which bounced, alleged to have been signed by Magaro or Lanzo.

Then he married a New Castle woman but this time under the name of Lanzo. The law is peculiar about having two wives and so a charge of bigamy was brought against him. His statements to the District Attorney and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar were all falsehoods, according to Mr. Donaldson, and so the law has a three bagger waiting for Magaro or Lanzo.

BUNDLES OF CHECKS

The mail is heavy in County Treasurer Frank W. Hill's office these days. Taxpayers are paying their taxes by mail and each morning sees a bundle of them. The discount for county taxes ends July 31 and in order to accommodate taxpayers who cannot get in in the daytime, Mr. Hill will keep his office open until 9 o'clock July 29-30-31.

To Pfc. James B. Pappas, who is serving with the Army in Italy, with the 529th A. A. P. Concert band, came the honor of accompanying Lawrence Tibbett at one of his concerts in Naples, Italy.

Pappas, who is stationed in Foglia, Italy, with the Army, flew with his band, to Naples, to participate in the program. Robert Lawrence, Mr. Tibbett's accompanist and Miss Lia Lauria, soloist, appeared at the same concert.

Pfc. Pappas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pappas, 1036 Adams street.

SENTENCE FIVE FOR LOOTING OF RAILROAD CARS

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., July 27.—(INS)—Five men were sentenced today to serve from 30 days to five years when they pleaded guilty to looting Pennsylvania Railroad freight cars in the Tyrone yards.

Joseph Fennell, of Altoona, who was termed the ringleader, was sentenced to serve a year in Western Penitentiary, five years in the Blair County jail and was fined $2,500.

Others sentenced were Harry Steiner, two and a half to five years in Western Penitentiary; Louis Sveiner, six to 18 months in the Blair County jail; Vernon L. Diggins, 30 days to six months in the Blair County jail; Jack Mitchell, 30 days to six months in the Blair County jail and John Margari, two and a half to five years in the Blair County jail.

BANK COMMITTEE APPROVES LOAN TO PHILIPPINE STATE

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—The senate banking committee Friday approved legislation authorizing a 75 million dollar loan of credit to the Philippine republic.

The committee reduced the amount in an original senate bill from $100 to 75 million dollars, making it conform to a house-passed measure.

Interest at the rate of two percent is provided.

The treasury secretary is authorized to extend the financial aid before July 1, 1947, in order to help the new republic meet its budgetary requirements in this fiscal year.

Stream Pollution Solution Sought

HARRISBURG, July 27.—(INS)—Secretary of Health Harry W. West reported today that systems used by some canneries to carry off industrial wastes "must be improved to prevent varying degrees of stream pollution."

He did not identify the offenders and said most canneries were complying with provisions of the anti-pollution law.

"It is appreciated that material and equipment shortages present a difficult problem in construction of waste treatment systems," West said. "But due to the fact that canneries waste end up in streams during the summer months, the effect is particularly noticeable from a recreational point of view and every effort must be made to prevent pollution from this source."

Army Food Waste Held To Minimum

CAMP CARSON, Colo.—(INS)—With the world-wide food shortage, the day of haphazard preparation and careless accounting in army messes has gone forever, according to Lt. Harlan Hively, food service supervisor at Camp Carson.

Utilizing methods which rival in efficiency the system used in many business establishments, waste of food in Camp Carson mess halls has been reduced to an infinitesimal factor.

An average of 99 1/2 per cent of all edible food that goes into the mess halls is ultimately consumed, Lt. Hively said.

Nile Expedition Gets Under Way

PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—An expedition is on its way to Africa to bring back specimens from the dark continent for the African hall in the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences.

Leading the expedition are Mr. and Mrs. William K. Carpenter of Wilmington, Del., who will explore the upper regions of the White Nile.

Objects of their search are crocodiles, monkeys, lizards, catfish, egret, pied kingfishers, whydah birds and the saddle-billed stork.

Expect Clarification Of Draft Regulations

HARRISBURG, July 27.—(INS)—State Selective Service officials were awaiting a directive from Washington today clarifying the status of fathers under a measure extending the draft until March 31.

A spokesman said local boards would be informed of the status of fathers after an interpretation of the law was received from national headquarters.

What People Say

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Truman, after "reluctantly" signing OPA extension bill: "If it appears that all the efforts of the government and the people will not be enough under the present legislation, I shall have no alternative but to call the Congress back into session to strengthen the price control laws."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.) on presence of five Army officers at party held by leader of Garson munitions combine: "When a brigadier general or a major general wants a trip somewhere he finds some excuse for getting travel orders to go there at government expense. I think it is an absolute shame and outrage, a graft on the government."

VERSAILLES—Winston Churchill, son, Randolph, intervening at collaborationist trial of former French Premier Pierre-Edouard Flaudin, comments on the Munich pact: "There are many anti-Munichites today who were then the world's best Munichites."

BATTLE TURNPIKE

HARRISBURG, July 27.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Free Roads Association intensified its battle against the Pennsylvania turnpike by demanding today similar mileage for roads competing with the $70,000,000 express highway.

The proposal was presented to

Gov. Edward Martin following a conference of the executive committee. During the session, E. S. Shuck, of Clearfield, was elected president, and Henry M. Scharf, of Gettysburg, vice president.

How to PLEASE the whole family—

Now that you can begin to plan those long delayed home improvements you've probably found there's considerable difference of opinion as to which should come first.

There's one improvement that every member of the family will enthusiastically o.k.—continuous hot water. They'll consider it a family blessing to have all the hot water they want at any time of the day or night.

The cost isn't great when you consider that the average family pays about five cents—the price of a package of gum—for its daily supply of water. See what your family thinks about the idea—it's pretty sure to be a unanimous vote in favor of a water heater as soon as possible.

Senator Taft Declares Truman Aids Inflation

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio), bluntly charged Friday that President Truman has created inflation and caused a permanent increase in the cost of living.

The Ohio senator made a slashing attack on the chief executive for vetoing the first OPA extension bill and then approving what Taft termed a "far more inflationary" measure.

Taft accused Mr. Truman of having "opened on July 1 the Pandora's box of price increases in those market-basket items" the housewife must buy every day.

Taft declared in a statement that the president's message to congress explaining why he "reluctantly" signed the new bill restoring rent and price controls "ignores the fact that the increases are probably permanent."

Taft asserted that the new bill contained all the major provisions of the OPA measure and a few more which were objectionable to the administration.

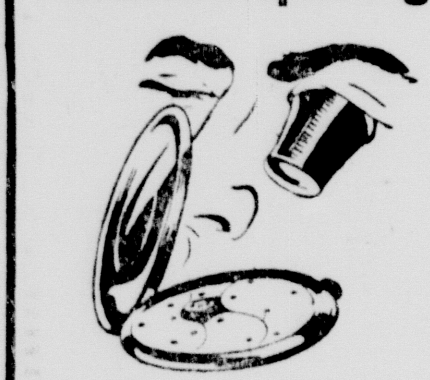

Taft contended that even the "essential feature" of the Taft formula had been restored. That, he added, was the provision "requiring the administrator to price each product of any industry on its present cost basis plus a reasonable profit."

very inflation which he pretends to abhor," Taft declared.
The Ohioan said the president gave his message "a touch of humor" when he stated that "attention must be given to strong inflationary policies such as further reduction of federal expenditures."
Taft declared:
"Within a week, the president has signed a bill giving the British three billion, 750 million dollars, and is about to sign another paying veterans three billion dollars.
The deficit for the fiscal year based on expenditures recommended by the president is likely to be 10 billion dollars instead of the four billion dollars he forecast.
"Expenditures in June were more than any month since January."

Arsonists May Be Responsible For Large Fires

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 27.—(INS)—The possibility that arsonists were responsible for fires causing damages in excess of $1,200,000 to Schuylkill County coal breakers was being investigated today by state fire inspectors.

An investigation was launched late yesterday after a fire raged through the Tuscarora Mining and Stripping Company's breaker at Port Carbon. Damages were estimated at $200,000.
The blaze, the fifth to strike coal installations in 19 months, was marked by five explosions, according to Lawrence P. Whims, of Pottsville, a watchman who summoned aid.

In March, a $500,000 fire roared through the Reppel Coal Company's breaker near St. Clair. Just three months after another half million dollar blaze gutted the Koska colliery. Other small fires were reported at the Mill Creek Coal Company's St. Clair breaker and the Otto breaker at Branchville.

British Fear Russian Aims In Eastern Austria

LONDON, July 27.—(INS)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin obviously feared Friday that the Russians may follow their current economic designs on East Austria with a lightning attempt to wrest it from the remainder of the country.

In a common debate over European boundary-lines Bevin said he did not know whether Soviet-occupied East Austria "may even be cut off," and added:
"The trend of things makes one wonder what the ultimate fate of Austria may be."

The Soviets have claimed all former German property in East Austria as reparations.
Bevin declared he did not approve Poland's new border with Germany, on grounds that it violated the Atlantic Charter, but said he accepted it for practical, wartime reasons.

Turning to the problem of South Tyrol, awarded to Italy by the Big Four foreign ministers, Bevin pointed out that the Tyrolese will have an opportunity to plead their case before the 21-nation peace conference opening next week.

He claimed that Trieste, destined to become an international "free territory" may become an economic outlet for all nations in central and southern Europe.

Ninth Year For Social Security Office In City

Monday Is Anniversary Of Board Here; Interesting Facts Told Of Work

Monday, July 29 will mark the ninth year for the Social Security office in this city, and today Edward J. Sinder, manager, pointed out some interesting facts about the old-age and survivors insurance program in this area.

The office, which services Lawrence, Mercer and Butler counties, pays out annually over $1,500,000 in monthly benefits to about 6,000 men, women and children in the area. Bearing out the family insurance feature of the program is the fact that about 55 per cent of the persons receiving benefits are women and children.

More Retired Workers
The number of retired workers on the rolls has increased about 70 per cent in the past year. Mr. Sinder stated that this was an indication of the large number of older workers who stayed on the job to win the war.

There are many workers, age 65 or over who are still working. Mr. Sinder said that his office has been urging these workers to protect their benefits by filing claims immediately. They need not retire to do so. Their claims are held on file until such time as they earn less than $15.00 per month in covered employment. Several hundred workers have already done this.

Services being rendered by the New Castle office include:

1. Advice and assistance given on filing for benefits under the program.
2. New and duplicate social security cards are issued and records of earnings are straightened out.
3. Workers are told how to check up on their accounts and a special post card form is available on which to request wage statements.
4. Representatives are available who will come to the meetings to explain the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Social Security office is located at 306 Neshannock avenue, in the Johnson building.

Guided Missile Program Installed

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—The War Department announced Friday establishment of a guided missile policy group in the plans section of the army ground forces.

All previous army work in connection with guided missiles has been done by the air forces. The group is charged with the responsibility for over-all planning and formation of ground forces policies connected with the missiles and aircraft artillery and coast artillery.

Col. C. H. Armstrong, organizer and commander of the Antwerp, Belgium, defense against the buzz-bombs, will command the new group.

Croton Playground Features Mardigras

Costumes From Brides, To Chinese And Russians Featured In Colorful Event

A colorful and gay mardigras was featured Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the Croton playground, with a large group of children participating in the event.

Two youngsters, Carol Pia and Sandra DeRosa, were dressed as brides and they received the first prize as the prettiest costumes. Betty Izzo was awarded the prize for the funniest costume. Old costumes were of Chinese tradition, and winners for these were Helen Galato and Carol Melnic.

Honorable mention was received by Dorothy Melnic, who was dressed as a Filipino. Bill Ridenbaugh and Bobby Popovich attended the festivities as happy bridegrooms, and two brides maids were Betty Pia and Helen Stone. The flower girl prize was captured by Joan Pizutti, and ringbearer, Mary Ann Leslie—and they concluded the wedding party costumes.

Little Patty Cook came dressed as an energetic worker—a nurses' aide, and she received honorable mention, as did also Ronny Cook, the clown. Alice Lasteria as the glamorous Mae West, Leonard Simon, the roving cowboy, and Charlene Malley added color to the picture as the picturesque Russian.

The mardigras was one of the most successful projects held thus far by the Croton playground, of which the supervisor and director is Viales Metta.

Anti-Monopoly Measure Framed By Senator Group

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—A Bi-Partisan group of seven Senators Friday introduced what was termed the "most sweeping anti-monopoly measure" since the Sherman anti-trust act.

The new legislation, termed the "anti-monopoly act of 1947," was introduced by Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) on behalf of himself and six co-sponsors with hearing expected to be held early next year.

Those sponsoring the measure included, in addition to Morse, Sens. Aiken (R-Vt.), Langer (R-N.D.), Murray (D-Mont.), Mitchell (D-Wash.), Taylor (D-Idaho), and Kilgore (D-W. Va.).

The bill ties in the anti-monopoly program with the employment act of 1946.

The legislation provides for prohibition of cartels, elimination of discriminatory freight rates, prevention of misuse of patents for monopolistic purposes, and credit assistance for small business.

It also calls for an additional six million dollars for the justice department's anti-trust division, expanded operation of the federal trade commission in anti-trust proceedings, coordination of government anti-trust activities, and the formulation of new regulations, wherever necessary, to control monopoly.

Capt. Garsson Says He Was Not Aware May Interceded

CHICAGO, July 27.—(INS)—Former army Capt. Joseph H. Garsson went on record today that he was not aware that Roy Andrew May had interceded in his behalf when he faced a court martial in France for disobedience of a command.

May, reportedly, appealed twice for clemency for Garsson, whose father, Murray, is a key figure in the Mead Senate committee's investigation of war profits.

Garsson was relieved of his command and placed on the inactive list in January, 1945.

Garsson said last night the court martial charge resulted from his refusal to obey the order of a colonel to take a position within 500 yards of the Germans in an open area between woods. He said he told the colonel:

"You're crazy."

Garsson is in charge of railway sales of water service equipment at the Batavia, Ill., plant formerly owned by Dr. Henry M. Garsson, brother of Murray.

He said he was an instructor in mortar firing in this country and in Europe and that the 42 shell criticized in the Senate investigation was used. He said that in 45,000 rounds there was not a single accident.

MOTHER DIES AT CHICAGO
BUTLER, July 27.—Funeral arrangements are incomplete for the late Mrs. Alma Wagner, aged 85, of Butler, who died Friday at a nurses home in Chicago following a lingering illness.

Baby Abduction Charge Is Made Against Girl

BLUEFIELD, Va., July 27.—(INS)—Assistant Mercer county prosecutor A. J. Lubliner, said today that he has signed a complaint charging pretty 18-year-old Marie Delk with abduction of another woman's baby "because it looked so much like my dead child."

Mrs. Myrtle Blankenship, 22, mother of 11-month-old Patricia, arrived from her home at Newton, Ga., to join her husband, Levi, a coal company employee, and was waiting for a bus to take her to Logan when Mrs. Delk offered to mind the child while she brushed up in the rest room.

When she returned she discovered the baby and keeper had disappeared.

Several hours later police found Mrs. Delk at the home of an aunt and uncle at Masberry with the child. Police said that the young wife of a soldier overseas told them she did not intend to hold the child for ransom, but intended to keep it.

Mrs. Delk said she lived at Boisswain, Va.

Mel Ott Says Chicago Cubs Team To Beat

Giants Manager Likes Cubs To Repeat With Good Pitching And Catching

CHICAGO, July 27.—(INS)—Talk to Mel Ott. He'll tell you the Chicago Cubs are going to win the National league pennant.

He'll stick to his theory even after his New York Giants shut out the Cubs recently behind the six-hit work of Bill Voiselle, 1 to 0. Because, Mel says:

"I know the Dodgers and I know the Cardinals and I know the Cubs. And I'll tell you this: It'll take a hot late-season winning streak to snag the pennant this year. And the Cubs are equipped for a winning streak late in the year. The Dodgers aren't. Neither are the Cards. There's your answer."

Cubs Have Pitchers

The answer, according to Ott—and the rest of the Giants, by the way—lies in that ultimate requirement for all successful ball clubs: pitching.

"Listen," one of the Giants pointed out. "You have two kinds of pitchers, you've got the kind that go good for five innings or so and then get their ears knocked off. And you've got the kind that look like Class D for the first four innings and then are apt to settle down and pitch no-hit ball the rest of the way."

"Well, you can have that second type of pitcher. He's no good for a ball club. If he goes bad at first it means you have to come from behind. He may go from bad to better, but you never know when he'll just go from bad to worse."

Also Have Catching

"That first kind of pitcher, though—that's the kind the Cubs have. Borowy, Wyse, Schmitz. They start good, giving you a chance to get ahead. If your pitcher starts good and stays good you win. If he goes bad, you've got your Chicago relief pitchers—Erickson, Kusch, Chipman—and chances are you win anyway."

Ott stepped back into the conversation at this point and joined his teammates in explaining that the Cubs have one other pretty little attribute which is lacking in the makeup of both the Cards and Dodgers—catching.

That's a point, too. Charlie Grimm can very well step up to Eddie Dyer or Leo Durocher and say: "I've got McCullough, Livingston and Scheffing. What've you got?" Grimm has fellows named Pafko and Lowrey and Back and Cavarretta, too. Plus that catching and all that pitching. And if Mel Ott is right about late-season bounces, he's right about the Cubs, too.

Murray-Daniels Under Suspension

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—(INS)—Lee C. Murray, of Baltimore, Md., and Perk Daniels, of Chicago, were under indefinite suspensions from fighting in Pennsylvania as a result of their "disrespectful" showing Thursday night in Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania Boxing Commissioner John W. Montgomery said the suspension will be enforced until the entire State Boxing Commission meets. Montgomery also withheld purses of both fighters.

Murray knocked out Daniels in the fourth round after a "very poor showing."

New Wilmington Defeats Brookers

Krakowski pitched four-hit ball to keep New Wilmington out front in the North County league Thursday night with an 8-1 victory over East Brook.

McKee was on the rubber for the "Brookers" and was rapped for 10 hits.

Mauriello Plans To Weigh 195 For Joe Louis Battle

NEPTUNE, N. J., July 27.—(INS)—Tami Mauriello, New York heavyweight, said Friday he expects to weigh 195 pounds for his title bout with Champion Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium on September 18.

Mauriello, who now weighs 207, has started training at Jumping Brook. He will confine his work to roadwork and calisthenics for the next few days, however, and will not start sparring for about ten days.

His manager, Jimmy Remini, said he thought Mauriello has a good chance to dethrone Louis because Tami is only 23.

Sutherland Feels Steelers Will Be In Thick Of Fight

Dr. John Sutherland Taking Pretty Fair Group Of 60 Men To Camp Hershey

By ED KELLY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—You still may be seeking relief from the heat but you can take Dr. John B. (Doc) Sutherland's word for it—autumn and the football season are just around the corner.

And if you sit around the headquarters of the Pittsburgh Steelers football team—the team the canny Scot will try to lead to its first National Professional league championship—you'll get the feeling old stone face isn't very wrong.

Everybody Busy

On the office walls are large, blown-up football action shots. At one desk, a lady secretary is kept busy answering the constantly jangling telephone, or attempting to fill season ticket orders.

Across the room sits portly John Holahan, general manager of the club. His desk is cluttered with incoming and outgoing player contracts.

To the rear, in a little glass-enclosed room, the ramrod-straight head coach is busy leafing through a sheaf of documents.

Ready For Camp

"Just cleaning up some little odds and ends before heading for training camp in Hershey, Pa.," he said as we entered his office.

"There's just ten more days left before we start to train and six weeks after that we open the season against the Chicago Cardinals."

"You may not believe it but autumn is high," he laughed as he adjusted the fan to allow more breeze to blow in our direction.

"What kind of a team do you expect to field?" the doctor was asked.

"Never had poor team."

"There are too many unknown factors involved," he replied. "I best can answer your question by saying I can't remember ever coaching a poor team and I don't expect to start at this late date."

The doctor pointed out that this will be his first football season in four years. He gave up his post with the Brooklyn Dodgers pro team in 1941 to enter the navy during the war years.

"I really don't know my players," he said. "But after the first two weeks in camp, you can bet I'll know each one of them by his first name."

"I intend to take 60-odd players to camp and we'll have a steady diet of football for the next six weeks."

Dudley and Podesta

Probably spearheading the Steelers' offensive attack will be half-back Bill Dudley, the shining light of the last couple of Steelers' in-and-out campaigns, and Johnny (Presto) Podesta, a newcomer from Modesto, Calif.

Presto Podesta Modesto was a triple-threat back with St. Mary's College and is the type of slam-bang player who is tailored for the famed Sutherland "power" offensive.

The doctor is expected to build his forward wall around Chuck Sherando, the former Penn State all-American center; Charley Melchior, an end; Floyd Spendlove, a tackle; Ralph Pike, a guard, and Johnny Mattioli, also a guard.

Caddies Strike At Five Clubs

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—(INS)—Caddies at five Pittsburgh golf clubs were on strike today to force their demands for increased fees.

Caddies at Oakmont Country club are asking for $2 single and $4 double with Monday's set aside for the caddies to play golf. At Westmoreland Country club the fee demands were the same and the boys requested the use of the club's swimming pool.

At Fox Chapel, Edgewood and Alcoa Country clubs, caddies demanded $3.50 doubles.

Three Star Backs Signed By Steelers

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Three pile-driving blocking backs, absolute essentials in the Sutherland style of football, have returned their 1946 contracts to the Pittsburgh Steelers offices and will be on hand for the opening drill, August 5, at the Hershey training camp.

The backs, all veterans of two seasons in the National Football league, are George Kline, ex-Duquesne; George Kline, All-American fullback at Bucknell in 1939, and Johnny Patrick, rugged quarterback from Penn State.

Jim Sykes, 31-year-old war veteran who set a new mark of 6 feet 5½ inches in the high jump at Penn State this spring, is interested in a law career. The Fayette county youth, father of a 10-year-old son, will enter Harvard in the fall.

Sister Kenny Is In Minneapolis Fighting Polio

Outbreak of Paralysis Causes Famous Woman to Turn Back From Trip Home

MINNEAPOLIS, July 27.—(INS)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, noted authority on the treatment of infantile paralysis, was in Minneapolis today, assisting in fighting an epidemic of the disease in that city and St. Paul.

When the outbreak occurred, Sister Kenny postponed a scheduled stopover in Los Angeles on her way back from Australia and hurried to Minneapolis to resume personal direction of the Kenny Institute for treatment of polio victims.

Three boys, 5 to 15 years old, died in Minneapolis yesterday and 14 local cases were reported for a total of 166. Their deaths increased the resident toll to 12 and the non-resident total to 13.

St. Paul had two new local cases and one more non-resident patient for totals of 49 and 13 respectively. Two deaths have occurred in St. Paul.

When he learned it was a Jap dollar, Hoffman ran his fingers over its engraved surface and said to himself: "Hereafter I'll know—this is what a Japanese feel like."

His fingers didn't forget. They remembered yesterday when a man gave him a "dollar" for a candy bar and a newspaper. And the same fingers reached out suddenly and seized the purchaser.

"Somebody call a policeman!" Hoffman shouted.

A crowd gathered immediately around his captive, holding him until two policemen arrived to make the arrest. The suspect, John Capehart, was taken to the 11th and Winter streets police station and charged with larceny by trick.

Where the customer got the Japanese currency was not immediately explained.

Hoffman, who says his ears are as keen as his fingers, told police that Capehart's voice matched that of the earlier culprit.

Report Grey Foxes Bold At Hog Hollow

Active Foxes Prowling Around Farms Of Hog Hollow District Killing Many Chickens

Many tales have been told of the "big bad wolf," but down Hog Hollow way, near Wampum, the big bad fox is on the prowl, with chicken-flocks in the vicinity being victims of the hungry animals.

Mrs. Francis Swonger of R. D. 1, Snake Run road, near Hog Hollow, in Wampum, hopes that some sort of a Pied Piper of Hamelin will take up residence in the district to rid the area of the obnoxious foxes who are stealing her prize white chickens.

Mrs. Swonger reported that her neighbor, Mrs. Sam Tanner, spied a sleek grey fox in broad daylight slipping up on one of Mrs. Swonger's prize broilers, but the shouts of Mrs. Tanner failed even to disturb the culprit. Only after a chase through the field by Mrs. Tanner, did the fox drop his prey.

The bold foxes even slip up close to the Saenger house and seek out the mother hen and her chicks who have secreted themselves in the weeds for the night, according to report received.

Any information on how to rid the area of the unwelcome guests or perhaps pests would be welcomed by Mrs. Swonger.

New Highway In Cochranton Area

COCHRANTON, Pa., July 27.—Actual highway improvement of approximately five miles of the Franklin pike is now in progress, with the N. B. Putnam company of Honesdale handling the contract.

The section to be improved is between Route 78 (the Cochranton Pike) and the point where the Franklin pike intersects the Lakes-to-Sea highway a short distance south of South Meadville.

Completion of the improvement will provide an alternate route between Meadville and Cochranton. Such a highway will be of considerable benefit as plans go forward for the straightening of the Twenty-eighth Division highway. If normal progress is maintained, the job should be done by mid-October.

Steal Cigarettes From Gas Station

State police today were investigating the alleged theft of cigarettes from the Fry gasoline station, on Route 422, near Parkersburg corner.

The burglars broke a window and entered the station some time last night. No money was kept at the station. The burglary was discovered when the station was opened this morning.

Falling Pole Causes Man Serious Injury

McKEESPORT, July 27.—(INS)—John W. Lyon, of Dravosburg, was in serious condition in a McKeesport hospital today as a result of being struck by a falling utility pole.

Police said that an automobile driven by Shirley Harris of Glassport, hit the pole and broke it off. Lyon suffered a fractured skull.

Blind Man Detects Japanese Dollar, Catches Passer

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Edward Hoffman is blind—but he can tell the color of a man's money.

Hoffman, sightless 38-year-old newsdealer in the east arch of City Hall, proved yesterday when he trapped a customer who allegedly tried to pass a worthless Japanese dollar bill.

It was the "eyes" in his sensitive fingertips that recognized the difference in texture between a Jap dollar and a good, old American greenback, Hoffman explained to police.

But, like any other eyes their only standard for comparing things is experience—and Hoffman's experience with Japanese currency already had cost him a dollar.

That's how much he lost Wednesday when, doing business in the darkness from which he has no escape, he accepted a paper bill from the purchaser of a 10-cent candy bar and gave him 90 cents change.

When he learned it was a Jap dollar, Hoffman ran his fingers over its engraved surface and said to himself: "Hereafter I'll know—this is what a Japanese feel like."

His fingers didn't forget. They remembered yesterday when a man gave him a "dollar" for a candy bar and a newspaper. And the same fingers reached out suddenly and seized the purchaser.

Russian Policy Feels Outright Opposition In Hungary And Austria

(International News Service)

Russian policy in Hungary and Austria felt the impact of outright opposition today and its aftermath may develop into another bitter fight between the western powers and the Soviet next week when the 21-nation allied peace conference opens in Paris.

The United States, in a formal note delivered to the Kremlin by the ambassador to Moscow, brusquely accused Russia of stripping Hungary of food supplies and industrial materials and blamed the Soviet for the country's current catastrophic inflation.

The strongly-worded castigation added to the many issues upon which the big four foreign ministers were unable to agree at their recent Paris council meeting, possibly may be reflected in a stiffened Soviet attitude when the peace conference gets underway.

Russian adamancy highlighted four meetings of the foreign ministers' council, so it would not be surprising if the Soviet delegation seized upon many of the unsettled problems as rallying points.

The ministers did concur generally on the big items but yet to be thrashed out are the final details on such things as frontiers, colonies, reparations and the statutory government for the new internationalized point of Trieste.

Demands Supreme Penalty For Nazis

British Prosecutor Ends Long Summation At Nuernberg War Trials With Demand

NUERNBERG, July 27.—(INS)—The British prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trial concluded his six-hour summation today with a flat demand for the "supreme penalty" for all defendants.

Yesterday, Sir Hartley Shawcross branded the 22 Nazi henchmen "common murderers" in a war that virtually destroyed Europe's Jewish members of that race.

Today, the prisoners squirmed in their seats in the dock as the British prosecutor cited their own words as quoted in official Nazi party documents in

Gambler Slayer Surrenders Self At Montreal Paper

Afraid Of Being 'Rubbed Out', Gunner Gives Self Up For Killing Of Gambler

MONTREAL, July 27.—(INS)—A small-time gunman afraid of being "rubbed out" on suspicion of bombing a big-time card game surrendered to the Montreal Herald Friday in the fatal shooting of gambler Harry Davis in his elaborate book-making establishment.

Louis Bercowitz, who got his alias of "Joe Miller" from a joke book, telephoned the Herald and asked for columnist Sean Edwin. Disappointed because Edwin wasn't in, he said:

"I want to get hold of him right away. This is the biggest thing that ever happened to the Herald." He called back repeatedly until he made an appointment to meet Edwin at an apartment.

Bercowitz said he shot and killed Davis in self-defense, seizing Davis' revolver with his left hand when Davis allegedly beat him to the draw.

Had Nightmares
Bercowitz said he had been having nightmares for fear Davis would import American gunmen to execute him on suspicion of bombing a card game last week.

He went to Davis' establishment last night to plead with him and was talking with him in an ante chamber within earshot of the crowded track room when the shooting occurred.

Meanwhile, police, fearing a renewal of gang war between rival gambling syndicates, rounded up scores of touts, bookies and underworld characters. An air of tension prevailed in Montreal clubs and bistros.

Investigators had a different reason for the killing. They said Bercowitz had been trying unsuccessfully to borrow money for the defense of his brother, Morris, who was arrested in New York a month ago following a liquor store holdup in which the owner and his clerk were wounded.

Police said Morris Bercowitz committed suicide before his brother could raise the money, and Louis has been grieving over his failure to provide help in time.

Bercowitz was turned over to Sgt. Detective Bill Fitzpatrick after he had made his "confession" to the Herald.

Young Convict Gives Self Up

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 27.—(INS)—Harry Merrick, III, 22-year-old escaped inmate of the Montgomery County prison farm, surrendered Friday after being at large since December 28, 1945.

Merrick was serving an 11-23 month sentence for obtaining money under false pretenses. He had only two months of the minimum term to complete when he escaped from the farm in a truck.

It was not immediately disclosed where he had been, but he surrendered with his wife, who lives in Philadelphia, to Thomas E. Waters, who turned Merrick over to police.

Authorities say Merrick is ready to plead guilty to the prison break and larceny of the truck. He was originally charged by his father, H. H. Merrick II, a rug dealer of Lower Merion, with selling rugs under false pretenses.

Auto Production At Postwar Peak

DETROIT, July 27.—(INS)—Wards' report declared Friday that automobile production in the United States and Canada reached a new post-war peak this week of 87,269 units.

The authoritative statistical report pointed out that for the third successive week the 1946 production record has been smashed.

Ward's said last week's revised figures show an output of 80,355 cars and trucks in both the United States and Canada.

The agency predicted a post-war record production of 405,000 units in United States plants alone in August.

Although labor and material shortages "pose problems in achieving" this goal, the agency said, automotive manufacturers hope to increase their schedules by 20 per cent next month.

FARM SAFETY OBSERVANCE

The mere statement of fact that farm accidents in 1945 claimed more than 1,600 persons killed and 1,500,000 injured should suffice to challenge farm folks and others to the full observance of safety rules at all times.

The proclamation by President Truman of National Farm Safety Week for July 21 to 27 doesn't mean that we should diligently practice safety measures for that week only and then revert to careless ways. It emphasizes the need for developing safety habits for our own protection at all times.

At worst, accidents cause suffering and grief. They also cause loss of time, of food, and feed and of income. We can ill afford any of these losses at any time, and especially not now when labor is short, prices are high, and with both food and feed urgently needed at home and to ease even greater needs abroad.

A seasonal, or occasional, clean-up about farm buildings, not confining this practice to the spring of the year will help to eliminate many accident hazards. A place for everything and everything in its place is a good farm safety slogan.

Farm and home helpers may be unacquainted with many of the accident hazards of the farm and need to have these explained to them. The proper handling of forks and other equipment about the barn, especially during the summer season when the accident rate is highest, will cut down this toll.

Machinery on the farm is a powerful servant. Used carelessly it can be dangerous. Accidents with machines cause more deaths on farms than with any other thing. This suggests more attention to the proper care and operation of all machines.

It's a good idea to review the way you work, to know you're taking every caution against accidents. Handle animals with care. Keep machinery and electrical equipment in good working order and handle them properly. Be careful with matches and poisons. And, if this has been an average minute, three more farm accidents have happened since you started reading this article.

TREND CONTINUES

CHICAGO.—(INS)—The trend among cities to reduce the work week and grant vacations with pay to white collar workers has been continued during the past year according to the International City Managers' Association. The number of cities in which administrative and clerical employees work less than 42 hours a week increased six percent in the last year. More than half of the 933 cities over 10,000 surveyed for the 1946 Municipal Yearbook now operate on a white collar work week of less than 42 hours.

Calls Veterans Housing Program National Scandal

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—(INS)—Joseph M. Stack of Pittsburgh, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, charged Friday that the veterans housing program has "reached the status of a national scandal."

Stack told the VFW's state convention in Philadelphia:

"In my travels throughout the country I have observed that lack of suitable houses is one of the veteran's main problems. We have legislation, finances, and lip service, but no houses."

The commander charged the black market was one of the main reasons for critical building materials going into non-essential construction or into houses whose price range is beyond the means of the average veteran.

"Even more shocking than the construction of high-priced individually owned homes is the construction of non-essential buildings," he added. "Throughout the nation, critical materials are going into the construction of such structures as dance halls, race tracks and juke joints while veterans are crying for homes."

"If the permits for non-essential construction, issued by the Civilian Production Administration, are out of line and reason, then the veteran can blame the government agency. The VFW wants to know the answers—and we want homes."

Stack advised veterans to wait to build a home until materials are better, even if they are financially able at the present time.

TAKE PRECAUTIONS TO PRESERVE FILMS OF UNDERWATER TEST

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, July 27.—(INS)—Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy said Friday that extra precautions were taken to prevent the disappearance of any films of Test Baker, the underwater atomic explosion.

The Operation Crossroads chief said that missing film, showing Bikini before testable July 1 have not yet been recovered. Authorities termed these films which were lost by an army courier enroute to Washington of comparatively little value.

Blandy was asked whether an enemy power could sneak an atomic bomb into American harbors and he replied that such an operation would be very difficult to detect.

The admiral said that so far as he knows, no extra safety measures now are taken by the United States to protect harbors, but he added:

"This will be something to consider in the future."

RULE LANDLORDS MUST GIVE BACK SECURITY MONEY

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS)—The OPA announced Friday that landlords who collected security deposits from tenants during the 35-day lapse of rent control will have until August 28 to refund the deposits.

The agency said that landlords who make the refunds within a 30-day period will not be considered to be in violation of OPA regulations which prohibit the demand, or receipt of security deposits.
